

Where has this originated?

These are all my beliefs I have about my career that aren't serving me...

A large, empty rectangular area with a light orange background, intended for the user to write their career beliefs.

These are the reasons why these beliefs are rubbish...

A large, empty rectangular area with a light orange background, intended for students to write their reasons why the beliefs are rubbish.

Without these beliefs, my career and life will look like this...

A large, empty rectangular area with a light orange background, intended for the student to write their response to the prompt above.

Affirmations to help you..

I've got this

I can make anything I want happen

Everything within me can bring my dreams to life

I am brave, strong, determined and focused

I am in control of my destiny

I make my future

I always get to choose

I am a big deal